The Ninth Course of the Lowell Institute Lectures will consist of eight lectures, illustrated by experiments, by Charles R. Cross, Professor of Physics at Tech, on Recent Developments in Electricity. This Course will be given Tuesdays and Saturdays, beginning Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 8 p.m. The Tenth Course is to be omitted and Prof. Cross' Course will be followed by a Course of eight lectures by James Jackson Putnam, M.D., Professor of Neurology in Harvard University, on Certain Prevalent Nervous Derangements and the Outlook for their Prevention. This course will be given Mondays and Thursdays, beginning Monday, March 12.

JUNIOR PROM.

The Prom will be Held at the Somerset. Bids Fair to Surpass all Previous Ones.

It is time to be thinking about the Junior Prom. The committee are out with their books and they want everybody's signature. This dance is the one big social event of the year, and last year's Prom showed that proper support by the whole school can make it a very successful affair. It is important that all who have any intention of going should sign at once, for the committee wants a solid basis on which to figure. The Prom is a heavy financial undertaking, and at least two hundred subscriptions are necessary to make it an assured financial success. Those who intend to go should see J. H. Leavell, L. Allen, D. G. Robbins, W. L. Woodward or R. C. Albro at once. Tickets are five dollars for gentleman and lady.

Y. M. C. A. MEETS IN TRINITY.

The Technology Y. M. C. A. held its regular weekly meeting Thursday, for the first time, in the Trinity Church Parish House, the use of which was so generously offered by Dr. Mann, the rector, and the vestry committee of the church. Dr. Mann was the speaker. In a few words he warmly welcomed those present on behalf of the church and hoped that Tech men would attend the Thursday noon meetings in the Parish House henceforth in large numbers. He was heartily glad that the Harvard merger had failed, and expressed his desire that a more intimate relation between the Institute and Trinity Church should develop in coming years. Dr. Mann then gave the men a heart to heart talk on the necessity of developing the spiritual side of their natures. Especially is this true in the case of Tech men, who look forward to engineering professions in which they will come in touch with all kinds and conditions of humanity, and be in responsible positions over many others. Subordinates cannot be considered as capable of just so much work, this hypothesis has failed whenever tried. A spiritual development gives the superior consideration and sympathy for the inferior and promotes good feeling as well as expediting the work.

In closing, Dr. Mann welcomed any who might care to come to the services of Trinity Church. At the morning service students may take seats in the gallery or wait until after 10.30 and then be ushered to the remaining floor seats. At the afternoon service, however, all seats are free. Dr. Mann especially urged the students to attend during Lent the short evening services which will be held every day commencing on Sunday, March 4.

The Musical Clubs will give a concert at the First Methodist Church, Somerville, this evening.

BOOK BY PRES. PRITCHETT.

Four Convocation Addresses Appear in Permanent Form.

"What Is Religion?" is the title of a collection of four lectures to students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by President Henry S. Pritchett, issued in book form by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

The little volume is dedicated to "the students whose friendship and fellowship form the inspiration of a college president's life."

This tribute is believed to indicate that President Pritchett believes in a close and personal relationship between students and faculty. In fact, he is said to have urged this very thing at the annual dinner of the Tech alumni.

He divides his talk into four chapters: "What Is Truth?" "What Is Religion?" "The Significance of Prayer," and "Ought a Religious Man to Join the Church?"

President Pritchett takes the middle ground on the subject of church membership. He thinks that the fellowship is often helpful and uplifting, but he does not take the position that it is indispensable to salvation.

He says: "There are few men who are not better for joining the church" then adds, "but that is not religion."

As a scientific man he approaches the problems of the soul. He declares that science and religion are not irreconcilable. He beseeches students to study the Bible with an open and unprejudiced mind.

"Churches have their advantages and weaknesses," he says. "That the church is not indispensable to the progress and perpetuation of religion seems clear."

On the other hand, he scores the man who avoids joining the church to dodge responsibility. "To excuse one's self for doing certain things because one is not a member of the church is hypocrisy," he adds. "Don't hide behind any such weak lie." He thinks that each must answer for himself these questions. "I don't pretend to tell you what truth is," he says on that subject. "Know truth. Approach the subject with open mind. Be content with no lie!"

He implores the student of science to deal with the facts of religion with an intellectual sincerity.

WILLIAM A. NICHOLS, PRINTER, 208 SUMMER ST., REAR

To err is human, but to laugh when your fellow students err is more so.

Today at the Tech Union will be held the first meeting of candidates for positions in the Tech Show. It is hardly necessary to say anything to those who have been in the Show in past years. They know the enjoyment and good fellowship to be had at the rehearsals. For the benefit of those who are trying for the first time it may be said that consistent attendance at the rehearsals counts just as much as dramatic talent, and while everyone may not have the talent, they have it in their power to make up the deficiency by regular attendance.

Those who attended the Junior Prom last spring at the Somerset realize what can be done in a social way at Technology. This Junior Prom was the largest and best appointed that has yet been given. It is the great social event of Technology student life and should receive the generous support of the members of all classes to be a success. It is given by the Juniors, and is their Prom, but it is attended by the student body generally.

Editing a college paper is a nice thing. If we publish jokes, people say we are rattle-headed. If we don't, we are fossils. If we publish original matter, they say we don't give them enough selections. If we give them selections, they say we are too lazy to write. If we don't go to church, we are heathens. If we do, we are hypocrits. If we remain at the office, we ought to be out looking for news items. If we go out, then we are not attending to business. If we wear old clothes, they laugh at us. If we wear good clothes, they say we have a pull. Now what are we to do? Just as likely as not some one will say we stole this from an exchange. So we did.

DR. THORP TO SPEAK.

Dr. Frank H. Thorp of the Institute is to speak before the New England Association of Chemistry Teachers, at their meeting Saturday, Feb. 17, at 2 o'clock P.M., in 11 Eng. B. His subject is "The Technology of Boric Acid and Borax."

WALKER CLUB PLANS.

There was a meeting of the Walker Club Executive Committee last week at which arrangements were made for the monthly dinner sometime after Feb. 20, and preliminary plans for a joint debate with the Civic Club were discussed.

NO FOOTBALL AT HARVARD.

Harvard will not play football this fall.

The Harvard faculty met last Monday and decreed that Harvard students must not take part in the American game, though the official announcement of this action will probably not be made till next week.

The action of the authorities, although not unexpected, has been to a great extent misunderstood. Among the graduates and undergraduates there has been a feeling that the faculty advisory board and members of the faculty had been paving the way for rule legislation which would make the game more desirable, cause a modification of the rigidity of training, bring the students farther from the game and closer to their studies, and cause it to be more of a college sport and less of a business.

But this idea has been aside from the truth. The Harvard faculty at its last meeting definitely determined the fate of football, and its ultimatum is that the American game must not be played at Harvard this year.

Majestic Theatre.

The host of New England play-
goers who so enjoyed the footlight presentation of the Biblical story of David in "The Shepherd King," are now to have a fresh treat in a massive production of "Mizpah" at the Majestic Theatre this evening. This play has been written by Ella Wheeler Wilcox and is founded upon the wonderful book of Esther.
This famous and immortal Scriptural love romance of the young Jewish maiden, Esther, and the great Persian king, Ahasuerus, which has charmed generation upon generation since it was first set down in sacred narrative by the old Jewish chronicler,

has been retold in footlight fashion
by Mrs. Wilcox, in a style to emphasize its dramatic intensity. Its ten scenes set forth the glory of that ancient Empire, the King's Palace
at Shusan, Queen Vashti's Boudoir,
the Grand Reception Hall of Ahasueras, and other equally magnificent tableaux.

The cast is headed by two actors
who are particular favorites with
New England playgoers—J. H.
Gilmour of Castle Square fame as the Persian King, Ahasuerus, and Adele Block, that young Boston actress, whose pronounced type of Semitic beauty should well befit the lovely Jewish maiden, Esther.

Castle Square Theatre.

Both as a novel and play, "A Lady of Quality" has attracted widespread attention during the past ten years. Not long after its publication it was made by the author, Frances Hodgson Burnett, into a strong emotional drama, and it was then immediately secured by Julia Arthur for the opening season of her starring career. It was an immediate success, its pictures of English life among the nobility and its sensational episodes bringing forth praise from all classes of playgoers. "A Lady of Quality" has not been seen in Boston for some years, and its revival at the Castle Square Theatre this week will bring

it for the first time before a considerable public that has never had opportunity to witness its stirring scenes and romantic characters.
The stage settings will be picturesque and beautiful, the costumes
exactly representative of the period,
and the cast will enlist the services
of the entire Castle Square Stock Company. The leading roles will be played by John Craig and Lillian Kemble.
